1. Purpose

The CHONG HUA HOSPITAL IRB, was established on January 2009 in order to provide independent guidance, advice, and decision (in the form of approval/recommendation/clarification/disapproval) on health researches or other specific research protocols involving human participants and human biologic materials.

The CHH IRB is composed of both medical and non-medical persons. It is independent in its reflection, advice, and decision.

This Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) describes the Terms of Reference (TOR) which provide the framework for constitution, responsibilities and activities of the Institutional Review Board (IRB). The TOR is further supported by the Standard Operating Procedures of CHONG HUA HOSPITAL.

2. Scope

This SOP applies to all activities under the CHH IRB. It describes the general ethical basis or values on which the CHH IRB is based, the composition and appointment, duties and responsibilities of IRB personnel, including attendance, training, expected deliverables, and disclosure of conflict of interest.

3. Responsibility

The CHH Medical Directorate is responsible for the constitution and establishment of the CHH IRB, appointment of the CHH IRB and Secretariat and allocation of an annual budget for operational expenses, compensation and training, and other educational activities available locally and abroad.

The CHH IRB shall enjoin IRB personnel to attend trainings, seminars, workshop as needed and shall ensure that adequate resources are provided for continuing professional development.

The CHH IRB Chair, Board members, Secretariat must read, understand and respect the rules set by the CHH IRB

Newly appointed CHH IRB members must read, understand, and sign required appointment forms at the start of their appointment or reappointment. If a member refuses to sign such an agreement, this may be a ground for his or her disqualification to serve in the CHH IRB or participate in the deliberation of
